POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

The imaginary line which separates the universe into theoretical parts for high school and college students are no less illusive than some of the lines of demarcation which have been set up in California politics.

For example, the judiciary is supposed to be above and beyond politics. Yet each Governor, down through the years, has rewarded his lawyer-friends with appointments to the bench. It is an accepted form of political patronage, no matter how much the bar may inveigh against it.

One department of California state government, however, has managed to stay fairly aloof from politics, regardless of whether progressives or conservatives, Democrats or Republicans, were in power. That department has been the state department of education!

As a consequence, California has had men in charge of its school system who have won nation-wide fame—men such as Will C. Wood and William John Cooper; men who stood out, head and shoulders, above the educational crowd.

And even Governor Merriam, who played his politics close to his vest, when it came time to appoint a state superintendent of public instruction ,ignored all his political cronies and appointed an outstanding educator—Dr. Walter Dexter, president of Whittier State college.

The reason that this makes news at the moment is that Dr. Dexter, true to the traditions of his profession, has refused to be swayed by political blandishments—by attemps of his friends to persuade him to be a candidate for Governor, or some other high political office—and has elected to be a candidate, instead, for re-election as head of California's school system.

That, in itself, is somewhat phenomenal, for it is hard for public men to resist a try at the Governorship. But equally worthy of note is the fact that Senator John Harold Swan of Sacramento, who once made a remarkably good run for state school chief against Vierling Kersey has announced that he will not be a candidate against Dr. Dexter, but instead will support him.

California, with the finest school system in the nation, has prided itself on the fact that its schools have kept out of politics. And it looks like it will maintain that record during the coming election, thanks to Dr. Dexter's good judgment. Dr. Dexter might have a good chance to be elected Governor; we won't argue that point. But because he refused to go political, he has almost a sure thing in being elected state superintendent of public instruction.

That, in itself, is a tribute to California's public school system. The line of demarcation may be imaginary, but it is nonetheless real—to California voters!

Earl Buck returned home from the San Jose hospital last Saturday.

CHEST DRIVE CLOSES QUOTA ALMOST FILLED

Campbell community council held a post drive meeting last night at which manager J. E. Murdock's collection report was accepted. The total of $1541.15 or 96 per cent of the $1600 budget was collected, which is a better percentage than for a number of years.

No organization's allocation will be curtailed as the small difference will be made up from the surplus fund.

The budget included $500 for the library, its upkeep, part of the librarian's salary; $300 for local relief which includes milk and lunches at schools for under-privileged children; $200 to the county Y. M. C. A. program; $100 for upkeep of the community youth center on North Third street; $150 to Boy Scout headquarter dues; $75 to Camp Fire Girls headquarter dues; and $25 to the local committee.

SHOP AT HOME — NOW!

There may be trouble in the coal mines and war threats in Tokio, but you can't stop the cheery tread of the nation's shoppers, mobilizing for one of the biggest Christmas buying parades in history.

Not since the days of '29 has the season of holly and mistletoe ushered in a shopping parade as big as this year's promises to be, and for the very good reason that the national income this year will probably reach the record-making total of $85 billion. This Christmas shoppers are warned more than ever to shop early. Priority demands may make it difficult or impossible for retailers to secure additional goods in many lines when present supplies are gone.

Wise shoppers will not only do their buying early, they will do it at home, where they can save precious time and dollars. Gone are the days when the big city held a monopoly on lower prices and variety of goods. The advent of mass distribution methods, the more efficient merchandising of progressive merchants, have effectively broken that one-time monopoly. In so doing, they have rendered a service not only to shoppers but to the community, for dollars spent at home create jobs, pay taxes, and support civic improvements of every kind. Your local stores stand ready to help you fill your Christmas shopping bag with bargains as fine as any to be seen anywhere. To find Christmas cheer for yourself, and spread it among others, shop early and shop at home.

LIFE-GIVING STAMPS

No longer is the great White Plague the destroyer of human life it once was. Medical science has succeeded in taming this ruthless killer since the turn of the century. Yet it would be wrong to assume that tuberculosis has ceased to be of serious importance any longer. For the age group between 15 and 45 years, it still remains one of the most prevalent diseases, even though the tuberculosis death rate has been reduced by two-thirds since the first Christmas seals were placed on sale 34 years ago.

At this season, the public once more has an opportunity to carry forward the good fight against tuberculosis through the purchase of Christmas seals. Had clinics and hospitals of this country sufficient funds to provide earlier treatment and hospitalization, the disease could be wiped out in less than ten years, so declare medical authorities. That goal may be too much to hope for. It is not too much to try for.

The purchase of Christmas seals not only promotes the nation's physical well-being. It is also an expression of hopefulness and good will toward our fellowmen which is the essence of the true Christmas spirit.

SANTA CLAUSETTES?

In conservative Pittsfield, Mass., several women just applied for the job of Santa Claus. Horrors! A bewhiskered Santa Claus with a soprano voice, stripped of his hearty chuckle and waddling gait!

Let women be breadwinners if they will, but let them be Santa Clauses or Santa Clausettes? Never! For the sake of all children, let old Kris be accounted the unalterable birthright of all dads.

P. S. Pittsfield stores turned 'em down!

Undismayed by the obstacles, California's Siskiyou county and Oregon's Curry county have launched a move to create a brand new state for themselves. Siskiyou wants to get out of California, Curry wants to get in. The prospects for each are so poor there's no alternative but to form a new commonwealth. We doubt if they'll have success, but they'll have fun trying!

BIG GAME!

An old California custom comes to the fore when those ancient rivals, Stanford and California, meet on the gridiron at Palo Alto next Saturday afternoon, November 29.

Come lean years or prosperous ones, war crises abroad or domestic blues at home, the contest for victory and gridiron glory between these schools has proved a magnet to nearly 100,000 persons one Saturday afternoon in every November.

It matters not that the Stanford Indians may more than once have bitten the dust that particular season or that the California Bear may limp onto the greensward bruised and bleeding from previous contests. The loyalty of their staunch supporters does not waver with the ebb and flow of football fortune—where the Big Game is at stake. Their allegiance survives throughout the seasons when Lady Luck refuses to smile on their favorite, knowing that in this most famous of battles even the lowly underdog may be charged with the fiery fighting spirit that spells a startling triumph.

With the strains of martial music rising into the autumnal sky, with pageantry and pomp of half-time parade formations and the eye-dazzling legerdemain of card stunts, the Big Game takes the stage, offering to a legion of spectators a brief respite from the world of wars and worries.

It's kick-off time! The battle has begun, and a multitudinous chorus of voices rises to cheer the ancient rivals on to victory.

THE MERE MALE'S GRAND SLAM

California men bridge players trimmed the girls at the annual men vs. women championship play in San Francisco—taking first and second honors. Yet the wary men might note something dangerous in the cat's-got-the-canary complacence with which Maureen O'Brien, lady bridge editor and player, reported the men's triumph. As a rule, men hate to play bridge with women. But men can be flattered; and could it be possible that the ladies conspired to show badly in order to flatter the poor silly dears generally into wanting to play more often with the gals? Could it, Maureen?

THE CIO AND HITLER

CIO delegates from every state, in convention at Detroit, last week declared overwhelmingly in favor of sending unstinted aid to all nations fighting Hitler—and also declared in favor of open U. S. war upon Germany if that becomes necessary to ensure defeat of Hitlerism.

Yet while those CIO delegates were so expressing themselves, CIO unions at behest of John L. Lewis were seeking to break the back of America's growing young war machine by forcing a steel mill shutdown through a coal mine strike. A CIO chieftain places union importance above the importance of the American people—knowing, if he is sane, that should a strike-crippled America go down, Labor with a capital "L" would vanish into slavery. The CIO cries for war on Hitler—and drives a knife into the back of the industries forging weapons to fight Hitler. This doesn't make sense. Suicide never makes sense. Whom the gods would destory, they first made mad.

* * * * * *

It is no longer a hymn of easy, self-confident optimism that Dr. Goebels is singing to the German people. In a startling reversal of the tune which has characterized the Goebbels-controlled press of Germany since the beginning of the war, the new theme being dinned into the ears of the German people is a gloomy elegy. They are warned of increasing hardships, of even more terrible sacrifices yet to come, if victory is to be won. No longer are they told, as they once were, that the triumph of Nazi arms is certain. They are, on the contrary, informed in blunt language that an inferno of terror and punishment will be meted out to them at the hands of the Allies if Germany goes down to defeat. But this dire message instead of spurring them on may well plunge them deeper into the sullen lethargy preceding the total collapse of morale.

"NAVY INTELLIGENCE"

Is it necessary to be a high school graduate in order to enlist in the Navy?

No. Navy enlistees need not be high school graduates. All applicants will be given an examination containing approximately 100 questions. A grade of 50 per cent or better on this examination is sufficiently high to pass the Navy educational standards. However, a high school education will be valuable to the seaman during his Navy enlistment.

If I enlist in the Navy or Naval Reserve, will I be sent to a Navy Trade School?

All new recruits are sent to one of four Naval Training Stations and after a training period they may take examinations for entrance into Navy Trade Schools. Those recruits who pass their examinations with sufficiently high grades are sent to Navy Trade Schools before assignment to the fleet. While attending these schools, they will receive regular Navy pay and free schooling valued at $1500.

What is the greatest possible pay I can expect to earn during my first term of enlistment?

It is possible to earn as much as $126 a month by the end of your first term of enlistment, and remember that your clothing, lodging, medical and dental care are all supplied free.

After I have served my term of enlistment, what benefits do I get for re-enlistment?

Depending on your rate and length of service, you can get a cash bonus up to $300 plus 30 days leave with pay.

What does the term "ash can" mean in the Navy?

An "ash can" is a slang term applied to the depth charge used to combat submarines. The average "ash can" is a container filled with approximately 300 pounds of T.N.T. and can be dropped overboard from a ship and so controlled as to explode at depths ranging from 36 to 300 feet. These are generally carried by the fast ships in the fleet, as a boat dropping a charge regulated to explode at 70 feet depth must move away from the explosion area at a speed of 25 knots or more. These "ash cans" are either rolled off the stern or shot from "y-guns" which hurl one right and one left simultaneously.

Terminates Visit

Mrs. Susan Evans who had spent some weeks in Campbell left recently for Fresno where she visited her son and now has gone to Van Nuys for the winter.

The Sigma Sigma club is meetting this evening at 7:30 at the Campbell grammar school where they will repair and put in order the children's clothing which has been collected under the direction of Mrs. Esther Short, school nurse.

Orchard City Grange

Meeting of the Orchard City Grange was held in the I. O. O. F. hall in Campbell on Tuesday, Nov. 25.

The fourth degree was conferred on Mrs. Hazel Dell Wilson with Werner Raab officiating.

Harry Barnes gave the report of the national grange which recently held its convention in Worcester, Mass. The grange looks forward to a progressive program with its new master Albert H. Goss, Federal Land Bank commissioner. The convention city for next year will be Seattle, Washington and in 1945 at Sacramento. The grange is on record as being opposed to national daylight saving.

The issue of the proposed stop and go signal at Campbell avenue and Winchester road was discussed. A coming flood menace was discussed by S. N. Hedegard. He stated that unless the protective concrete embankment at the foot of Casey road was repaired it is possible that Campbell may have another flood like the one in 1911. The repairing proposal was referred to the civic improvement committee.

Another problem discussed was the basic rate for bus fare. It was moved to have the grange send a letter to the Peerless stages endorsing the resolution to extend the basic rate limit.

The farm prorate program was discussed by W. W. Lester. The purpose of this program is to control the substandard prune. Through inspection the government has put 40,000 tons of prunes this year in the off-grade and the farmers have been feeding them to cattle. Now the government wants to send the sub-standard prunes overseas to compete with standards. The prorate board objects to this program and Mr. Lester moved that the grange send a resolution to the board backing them in their stand.

Mervyn Keesling in his report on marketing said that government buying is stimulating packing activities. He said prune prices today are two cents higher than at harvest time.

On Dec. 9 there will be a pot luck dinner at the hall at 6:30 p. m. and election of officers afterwards. Dec. 23 will be a Christmas program, and the Campbell Union High school glee club under the direction of C. P. Klassen has been invited to entertain with Christmas music.

During the lecture hour under the supervision of Lambert Skillman there was community singing followed by three solos by the Rev. D. H. Baldwin, accompanied by Mrs. Virginia Rutherford.

Following an interesting game of charades in charge of Mrs. Nellie Rutherford and Mrs. Samuelson, refreshments were served in the banquet hall.

The 35th annual Christmas Seal sale opened Monday, November 24 and will extend through Christmas day. Residents of Campbell received seals through the mail and Lowell Benson, seal sale chairman for Campbell urges recipients to send in their contributions as soon as possible ,to facilitate the handling of the returns.

Robert B. Kennedy, president of the Santa Clara county Tuberculosis association issued a plea to persons receiving the seals to use them on letters sent out from now until Christmas day. He also states, "This is not an appeal for some remote charity, but an appeal to help with health work in our community. The seal sale is a well-organized, business-like manner of securing funds needed for this home-defense work. Since this is the 35th year of these sales, we feel it is a definite part of community life."

Yehudi Menuhin To Play At Santa Cruz Thursday

Yehudi Menuhin, the violinistic genius of the century, plays in the civic auditorium, Santa Cruz, on Thursday evening, Dec. 4, presented by the Denny-Watrous management.

Now twenty-four years old, a father with two children, Yehudi plays with a mature beauty which defies all imagination. His Santa Cruz program includes the gay, Mozartian Sonata No. 1 of Beethoven; the Paganini Concerto No. 2, styled "La Campanella." The Paganini is being given a world premiere. The last movement, from which Liszt transcribed his famous piano composition, "La Campanella," is well known, but the violin work in its original entirety is having its first performance under the magic fingers of Menuhin.

Ravel's Tzigane, Concert Rhapsody, follows; then Kreisler's Praeludium and Allegro; Sarasate's Caprice Basque and Cobbler's Dance; Debussy's Maid with the Flaxen Hair ,and Bazzini's Dance of the Goblins.

Tickets for Menuhin's Santa Cruz recital may be secured from Herb Coats, telephone Santa Cruz 300, or through the civic auditorium of Santa Cruz.

CALOX TOOTH POWDER

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

A dollar spent on food in the summer of 1939, according to a statement recently released by Undersecretary of Treasury Daniel W. Bell, will only buy 84 cents' worth today.

Since the war started in Europe, said Mr. Bell, the cost of living has risen 10 per cent; he added that it has increased 7 per cent since last February.

There can be no doubt that booming living costs are becoming a serious problem for "all of us," as the officer asserted, and no one—least of all the farmer—wants to see a recurrence of the hectic high cost of living era which characterized the first World War.

In seeking to stem the tide of rising prices, however, it is of utmost importance that the whole economic situation should be weighed carefully, not just a segment of it, and that when the brakes are put on they shall apply equally and fairly to all classes. For instance ,if a ceiling is to be put on prices, then a ceiling must be put on wages. Otherwise the farmer and producers generally, will face inevitable ruin and bankruptcy.

While food prices have undeniably increased, with at least part of the increased return accruing to the farmer's account, the prices of things the farmer must buy have increased in greater ratio than the things he sells.

There is no disposition on the part of American agriculture to shirk its fair share of the burden which must be placed on the American people to pay for the cost of national defense. Most farmers having suffered from a long period of low prices for farm commodities, undoubtedly react unfavorably, at least on first consideration, to suggestions that present price rises be checked by law or governmental decree. But if price control measures are essential to national security the farmer will be a good soldier and take such restrictions without grumbling — provided equal controls are applied to farm costs, including wages.

If prices are to be kept down ,then the factors which make them go up must also be controlled. It must be the responsibility of the American people, during this emergency, to see that all favoritism is eliminated and to make official Washington know that no slacker class will be tolerated, regardless of the political pressure that class may bring to bear.

The workers of America, as a class, are just as patriotic and loyal as the farmers of America, but it has become increasingly apparent, as unwarranted strikes have slowed up and endangered the national defense program, that the professional labor politicians of America think of their own selfish interests first and their country when they get around to it. California agriculture and American agriculture will be watching Washington to see that that condition is corrected.

THIS young woman who was a cashier when war broke out is one of the many thousands of women who are doing a great job in Canadian war industry. She is employed in an aircraft factory where her accurate eyes and nimble fingers deftly sort the rivets that have been dropped by the men who put the aircraft together. Even in a country as rich in minerals as Canada, metals are vitally important these days and not a scrap is wasted.

This is no joke. December is the worst month of the year for traffic accidents. Drive carefully if you want to enjoy the holidays.
